A Proven Alternative

Health Insurance versus Medical Cost Sharing

To see how powerful Medical Cost Sharing can be, let's take a look at the McMahon family.

Example: The McMahon family has a one year old child suffering from persistent ear infections. Their health plan had a deductible of $2,500/per family member.

Care for their child required a series of antibiotics & booster injections, and a visit with an ENT specialist who inserted tubes in the child's ear at a local hospital. Here is what their medical need would cost on an insurance plan vs. how it would be shared as a member of Sedera's Medical Cost Sharing community (with a $500 Initial Unshareable Amount).
